

Print

Text Size

Remove Images

Undo

HOME POLITICAL U.S. WORLD ISRAEL LOCAL BUSINESS JP 2015

About Support

100%  Text Size

Remove Images

PERFECT AUTO COLLISION REPAIR PAINTING • TOUCH-UPS TOWING • INSURANCE CLAIMS 718.3 perfecta CLIC

Undo

Close

Close

Printing Your Page

Sending to your printer. re-send

Student at Macaulay Honors College Selected for NYC Urban Fellows Program

Student at Macaulay Honors College Selected for NYC Urban Fellows Program

l for NYC Urban Fe

by Menachem Rephun

Share

JP jpupdates.com/2016/04/10/macaulay-honors-collec

On April 7, Macaulay Honors College announced that Macaulay senior Jake Levin '16 (Brooklyn College) has been selected for the 2016-2017 NYC Urban Fellows Program. According to a statement on Macaulay's website, the program will introduce America's most outstanding college students to local government and public service. In September 2016, Levin will begin working in Mayoral offices and City agencies as part of a nine-month fellowship. He will also take part in a seminar series exploring urban issues impacting policies, according to the website.

On April 7, Macaulay Honors College announced that Macaulay senior Jake Levin '16 (Brooklyn College) has been selected for the 2016-2017 NYC Urban Fellows Program. According to a statement on Macaulay's website, the program will introduce America's most outstanding college students to local government and public service. In September 2016, Levin will begin working in Mayoral offices and City agencies as part of a nine-month fellowship. He will also take part in a seminar series exploring urban issues impacting policies, according to the website.

Levin '16 (Brooklyn College) has been selected for the 2016-2017 NYC Urban Fellows Program. According to a statement on Macaulay's website, the program will introduce America's most outstanding college students to local government and public service. In September 2016, Levin will begin working in Mayoral offices and City agencies as part of a nine-month fellowship. He will also take part in a seminar series exploring urban issues impacting policies, according to the website.

In 2015, Levin, a political science major, was named one of only nine students to receive the Truman Scholarship for public service. In September 2016, Levin will begin working in Mayoral offices and City agencies as part of a nine-month fellowship. He will also take part in a seminar series exploring urban issues impacting policies, according to the website.

Levin '16 (Brooklyn College) has been selected for the 2016-2017 NYC Urban Fellows Program. According to a statement on Macaulay's website, the program will introduce America's most outstanding college students to local government and public service. In September 2016, Levin will begin working in Mayoral offices and City agencies as part of a nine-month fellowship. He will also take part in a seminar series exploring urban issues impacting policies, according to the website.

"As a kid who grew up in a town where everyone was working in Mayoral offices and City agencies as part of a nine-month fellowship. He will also take part in a seminar series exploring urban issues impacting policies, according to the website.

Levin '16 (Brooklyn College) has been selected for the 2016-2017 NYC Urban Fellows Program. According to a statement on Macaulay's website, the program will introduce America's most outstanding college students to local government and public service. In September 2016, Levin will begin working in Mayoral offices and City agencies as part of a nine-month fellowship. He will also take part in a seminar series exploring urban issues impacting policies, according to the website.