FESTIVAL (Sunday) Sponsored by the N.A.A.C.P. Roy Wilkins Center, this year’s festival, running from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., between 86th and 96th Streets, will feature special displays devoted to Japanese foods and crafts (93rd to 94th Streets) and products made by Norwegian students (89th to 90th Streets).

WORLD’S FAIR SCAVENGERS HUNT (Sunday) During this free daylong event on the grounds of Flushing Meadows-Corona Park — the site of both the 1964-65 and 1933-34 World’s Fairs — teams will use clues to pick up items at various spots in the park; the team that retrieves the most items wins. There will also be no admission to cultural sites in the park, including the Queens Museum and the New York Hall of Science, as well as a concert at 6 p.m. at the Unisphere. Registration for the hunt begins at 10:30 a.m. at the Queens Theater in the Park, at United Nations Avenue South, near the New York State Pavilion. More information: queensbp.org/event.
